From the Mayor's Desk

Please join me in welcoming Jessica McKeown as the Finance Officer for the City of Deadwood replacing the retiring Mary Jo Nelson. Jessica's first day was Thursday, November 15.

Born in Deadwood and raised in the Black Hills, Jessica is excited about relocating her family back home. When she heard about the position opening in Deadwood she wasn't looking for other employment but didn't want to miss an opportunity to move back to this area. Her grandparents worked at Homestake and her grandmother, Ione Quenzer, still lives in Lead. Jessica has almost twenty years of combined finance experience. She attended Black Hills State University and Chadron State College and has a Bachelor of Arts in Business Administration and Finance. Jessica was working as the Town Clerk/Treasurer for the Town of LaSalle, Colorado. Welcome Home Jessica!!!!

Mayor,

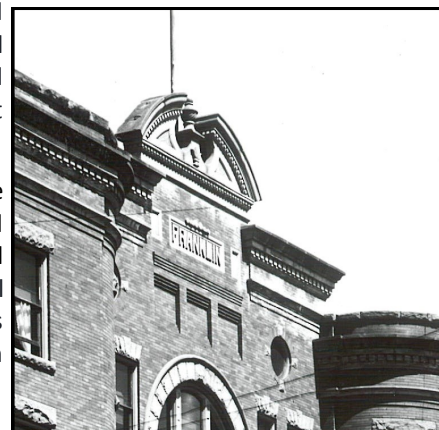

David R. Ruth Jr.

Franklin Hotel Parapet and Pediment Project

In the first week of November, the Deadwood Historic Preservation Office received several progress photographs from Architectural Mall, Inc. of the new parapet and pediment for the Franklin Hotel. Work on this project began two years ago when David Stafford was hired by the Silverado Gaming to develop a set of plans for the reconstruction of the parapet and pediment that once resided above the Franklin Hotel. As lead architect on this project, Stafford consulted with the City Archives and obtained a digital copy of the 1904 hand tinted glass transparency of the Franklin Hotel (on display in the Deadwood City Hall council chamber). From this image, Stafford using AutoCAD software developed an exact replica of the architectural features that once graced the top of the Franklin Hotel.

The plans were then submitted to Architectural Mall, Inc. for the fabrication of the Franklin architectural features. Latex molds of each segment of the parapet and pediment were hand crafted using an assortment of media including silicone, wood, and styrofoam. During the molding and casting process, a stone sample of the original parapet was sent to the fabricators to match the color and texture. After approving this detail, the molds were ready for production. These photographs capture the completion of the casting of the architectural features.

Installation will be completed within 2018.
