Historic Preservation Moment An Old Bottle With an Interesting History Harpers Medicine Washington, D.C.

Two weeks ago, this patent medicine bottle was unearthed during the repair of the Fremont Street retaining wall project. Summer intern Max Nelson conducted some research and discovered an interesting history surrounding this manufacturer.

Harper's Headache Medicine was developed in the late 1880's by a young man named Robert N. Harper, who expounded on the use of acetanilide, a white powder or crystalline substance obtained by interaction of glacial acetic acid and aniline. As a result of its painkilling and anti-inflammatory effects, acetanilide became one of the ingredients in Harper's headache remedy. Other ingredients in Harper's medicine include antipyrine, caffeine, sodium and potassium bromide, and alcohol.

In 1906, Harper's medicine underwent scrutiny by the United States government as a result of the Pure Food and Drug Act. The Pure Food and Drug Act was the first of a series of significant consumer protection laws enacted by Congress. Harper went to court and was convicted of false advertisement. It was proven that acetanilid in large doses and/or in continual use would result in acetanilide poisoning and death. Furthermore, acetanilid was deemed a major threat to the public health, and it was an act of misbranding when Harper assured the public that this remedy contained "no ... poisonous ingredient."

August 17, 2016—Wednesday
Planning & Zoning Commission Meeting
5:00 p.m. @ Deadwood City Hall

August 19: Picnic on the Lawn: Entertaining Women: Actresses, Singers, and Dancers of the Old West – Enjoy a lecture on the lawn with author, Chris Enss, as she discusses pioneering women, both the innocent as well as the bad girls. Many of the most popular women entertainers of the mid- and late-1800s performed in boomtowns that dotted the West, drawn by the same desire for riches that took miners and merchants there, and bringing a variety of talents and programs. Though they were sometimes literally showered with gold, their personal lives were often marked by tragedy and unhappiness. These stories reveal the entertaining side, but also some of the hardship of the American West. Bring a lunch and enjoy the Adams House lawn; 12:00 p.m. Admission by donation. In case of inclement weather, the lecture will be moved to the Homestake Adams Research and Cultural Center (HARCC).

August 24, 2016—Wednesday
Historic Preservation Commission Meeting
5:00 p.m. @ Deadwood City Hall

On July 2, 2016, Willard Pummel, 89, passed away. Throughout his life, Willard was devoted to public service. While living in Deadwood, he was elected to the City Council and as Mayor and served from 1976-1977. He also served on the Days of '76 Committee. In Belle Fourche, he was elected to the City Council and as Mayor. He was active with the Black Hills Roundup and served as Chairman. Willard was also elected as S.D. State Representative and served from 1996-2002.

Mayor Turbiville stated, "It is sad for the loss of such a prominent Mayor of Deadwood. Mr. Pummel served as Mayor for two Northern Hills cities and had a positive impact on both communities. My condolences to the family." The City of Deadwood would like to acknowledge Mr. Pummel for his outstanding public service.

August is Travel Safety Awareness Month

With summer in full swing, it is the perfect time to get away. Whether it is a day at the beach or a trip to an exotic locale, we all want to get there safely and stress free.

With today's heightened security in some places, the words "travel" and "stress free" may seem contradictory. But with a little forethought, any trip can be a safe and enjoyable experience.

First and foremost, when selecting a destination, know as much as you can about the place. If you are going to a foreign country, it would be wise to avoid locations where there is hostile activity.

Know your destination. Do some research on the best way to get there, the best days and times to travel in and out of the area, and, of course, the local hot spots.

Don't be a target

Your goal should be to blend in. Avoid wearing expensive clothing or jewelry that would mark you as an affluent tourist. Pack lightly. This will allow you to move unencumbered and have at least one hand free. Also, carry the minimal amount of valuables with you, and plan on concealing them. Avoid carrying bags or backpacks that have an outside pocket, which is easily accessible to thieves.

Pack smart

Check the weather for your destination and pack accordingly. There is nothing worse than having to shop for extra clothes instead of sightseeing because you didn't know it was going to be chilly.

If you are going to be away for a few days, be sure to pack enough medicine and carry your doctor's phone number with you in case of an emergency. If you wear glasses, consider bringing an extra pair. Just in case.

Take precautions

Double check your health insurance coverage. Be aware of out-of-network coverage when you are traveling. Also, check on whether your health insurance covers you if you traveling abroad. Medicare and Medicaid do not cover medical expenses outside of the United States. If you are traveling to a remote location or a country where medical facilities are inadequate, consider purchasing a policy designed for travelers that covers short-term health and emergency assistance as well as medical evacuation in the event of an accident or serious illness.

If you are flying

- Plan ahead. If you are traveling to an area where a particular disease is prevalent, ask your doctor for a prescription to prevent or treat the disease
- Make sure all of your prescription medicines are in their original bottles and that you bring copies of the prescriptions
- Pack defensively. Bring sunscreen, insect repellent, anti-diarrheal medicine, and pain reliever
- Protect yourself. Periods of not moving, dehydration, and low cabin pressure increase your risk for blood clots in your legs. Try contracting your calf muscles or tapping your feet. This will keep the blood flowing and reduce your risk
- Drink plenty of water. The cabin of a plane is dry, with humidity levels under 20%. Avoid alcohol, carbonated drinks, and coffee
- Wash your hands frequently and consider bringing hand sanitizing gel to prevent getting sick
- If you are driving
- Plan ahead. Know when and where you will be making rest stops. This avoids driving too long and becoming overtired
- Bring healthy snacks. Stocking up on healthy snacks a head of time will help you avoid the fat- and sugar-laden snacks found in convenience stores and gas stations
- Follow local laws governing the use of cell phones while driving
- Use sunscreen for long car trips. Rear and side windows typically filter out UVB rays, which cause redness and sunburn, but not UVA rays, which penetrate skin more deeply and can cause damage.

The City of Deadwood is soliciting bids from companies and individuals interested in acquiring the Naming Rights to the Lower Main Street Welcome Center, an individual meeting room within the Welcome Center, an outdoor entertainment space and a creek overlook plaza on the property. The term of contract shall be (5) years, commencing May 2017. Proposals must be submitted by the closing date of September 1, 2016 at 5:00 p.m. If you have any questions regarding the proposal, please contact Chief Kelly Fuller at Kelly@cityofdeadwood.com or (605)578-2623

“Wild Bill” Hickok moves into the Gettysburg Dakota Sunset Museum

The city of Deadwood comes to life at the Gettysburg Dakota Sunset Museum. The museum will play host to a 6 panel exhibit about the famous “Wild Bill” Hickok for the summer.

“The Wild Bill Hickok Exhibit” is a six panel display showcasing the lives of the Hickok family as told through archival documents. In 2006, the Deadwood Historic Preservation Commission purchased one of the largest privately held collections of Wild Bill Hickok memorabilia in the United States. The collection consisted of original photographs, personal correspondence, and other items focusing on the lives of the Hickok family.

The first panel titled “The Man, The Myth, and the Media” focuses on the rise of stardom for western gunfighter

James Butler Hickok. The second panel “The Value of History” explores the history of three photographs reportedly showing the public execution of Jack McCall as told by the local Yankton newspapers. “Wild Bill’s Big Brother” and “Lorenzo Butler Hickok: Wild Bill’s Second Older Brother” examines the lives of Wild Bill’s older siblings. The fifth panel titles “Honoring the Dead” looks at how James Butler Hickok’s grave at Mt. Moriah has evolved over time through the use of photographs. Finally the last panel, “History from Home”, explores the women in Wild Bill’s life, including his relationship with his mother and younger sisters. All of the documents and photographs used in this exhibit were purchased by the Historic Preservation Commission in 2006. This collection constitutes one of the largest assemblages of Hickok memorabilia in the United States.

This exhibit is currently on display at the Dakota Sunset Museum. Summer hours are Monday through Saturday from 1:00 p.m. to 5 p.m. The exhibit will remain on display until the end of October of 2016.

If you have any questions in regards to the Hickok Exhibit, please contact the Deadwood Historic Preservation Office at 605)578-2082 or e-mail archives@cityofdeadwood.com.

76th Sturgis Rally: August 8-14, 2016

As the summer has come upon us all, so have all the Bikes, Trikes and revving of exhaust pipes. Some residents may leave town, others may stick around; nevertheless, motorcyclists are more vulnerable than other drivers, but it’s up to everyone to be motorcycle aware on the roads. Let’s all join together and follow these tips to keep yourself and others safe:

Driving a vehicle?

- Use Caution when pulling in front of a motorcyclist;
- Back off to allow quick stops due to weather or road debris;
- Double-check those blind spots and use your turn signals.
- Allow motorcycles plenty of lane space.

Driving a motorcycle?

- Dress to be seen and protected;
- Avoid center of lane when traffic is slow;
- Target open spaces and stay out of blind spots;
- NEVER cross over to an off-ramp at the last second.

Chamber Corner
