Deadwood's Snocross Event named AMSOIL Championship Snocross Event of the Year for 2014

Deadwood's Snocross held in late January has become an annual winter event for motorsports enthusiasts throughout the region.

In early May ISOC, the International Series of Champions, producers and promoters of 2013-14 AMSOIL Championship Snocross, powered by Ram, announced the Deadwood Snocross Shootout, presented by K&N Filters, had been named the "Event of the Year" for America's premier competition snowmobile racing series.

"The officials with the Days of '76 Rodeo Grounds and the City of Deadwood did a fantastic job in hosting round four of AMSOIL Championship Snocross, providing a formidable venue that led to some of the best racing we saw all year while also rolling out the red carpet for the fans all week long with numerous snocross-themed events and promotions," said Carl Schubitzke, ACS President/Race Director. "Everyone on the AMSOIL Championship Snocross tour was impressed with Deadwood's enthusiastic 'all-in' attitude towards the sport of snocross."

Congrats! And a "Thank You" to ALL who make our Deadwood event a success!

Excavated Firearms from Deadwood's Chinatown Dig

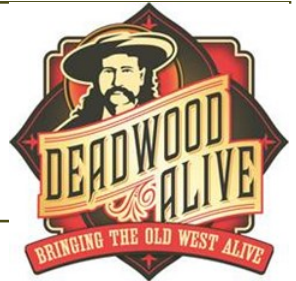

After a year of conservation treatments, five firearms discovered from the Deadwood Chinatown dig have returned to Deadwood. In April of 2013, Historic Preservation Office sent five firearms excavated from the 2002 Deadwood Chinatown archaeological dig to the Maryland Archaeological Conservation Laboratory (MAC Lab) in St. Leonard, Maryland. The MAC Lab has performed conservation treatments on metal artifacts excavated from some of the Nation's earliest archaeological settlements including historic Jamestown and Colonial Williamsburg in Virginia.

Unbeknownst at the time, one of the firearms was still loaded as indicated by the x-rays performed at the MAC Lab. The guns underwent a battery of cleaning and desalination sessions before being coated with a clear acrylic sealant. The guns will be on display at the Deadwood City Hall before being exhibited at one of Deadwood Historic Inc.'s Museum.

If you have an item to be identified or would like to donate to the City of Deadwood Archives, please contact Historic Preservation office by emailing archives@cityofdeadwood.com or calling 578-2082.
